Reference

During his time at Rhino, Darren's responsibilities have included the design and efficient running of identity, print and advertising projects for a wide variety of our major clients from briefing and preparation of quotes, through to organisation of print, media and handover.

Darren is an extremely creative, competent, resourceful and friendly individual. Over the 2 years Darren has been involved with our team, he has developed a keen understanding of the studio environment. He is self-motivated with excellent timekeeping and organisational and interpersonal skills which allow him to work well with colleagues and to excel in client liaison. Darren has impressed us constantly with his initiative and the exceptional quality of his work, often produced to tight deadlines. His design work and approach is imaginative, focused and meticulous and he has consistently put in a level of effort that far exceed expectation.

Reference

Thomas Smith has now successfully completed the BA (Hons) Creative Advertising degree at the University of Lincoln. Throughout his time on the three-year course he has matured as a practitioner of creative advertising and demonstrated considerable skills in the area of visual communication.

Tom is a very hard working & talented creative individual who has been a pleasure to teach. His advertising work is intelligent, always of a high standard and very effective. Tom's cultural awareness often leads to 'alternative' and fun creative solutions. His work demonstrates a good understanding of the importance of clear communication and creativity in order to produce successful advertising. He is an enthusiastic, energetic student who has the ability to identify the opportunities and possibilities that advertising can offer. He has regularly shown natural leadership abilities.

Tom is a conscientious, enthusiastic student who works very well in a team. He has demonstrated that he is reliable, level-headed and responsible.
